when the requirements of the Jockey Ciul and also the boom in racing made it impera tive, the track was turned into a mile affair and a wooden grandstand, seating perhap 3,000 persons, was put up by the Queens County Jockey Club. Business increased in volume from year to year, however, and further improvements were made until, with increased seating capacity and a track one mile and a quarter in circumference, with a straightaway chute and a steeplechase course, Aqueduct this spring looks more up to date than ever before.

Still the popularity of Aqueduct, great as it was shown to be on Saturday, when a record breaking crowd attended the opening, is no at the zenith. With P. J. Dwyer and the Brooklyn Jockey Club in control, new and expensive improvements are naturally expected. Last fall THE SUN printed a statement that Mr. Dwyer was thinking seriously of buying some property suitable for a race-track in the vicinity of Belmont Park, and that such a deal was contemplated because the Brooklyn Jockey Club realized that in the course of time the Gravesend track would be cut up for real estate purposes. At the time Mr. Dwyer said that he did not believe Gravesend would be disturbed for a number of years to come, but he did not positively deny that the Brooklyn Jockey Club was in search of a new home.

When it was authoritatively announced last week, therefore, that Mr. Dwyer had purchased a majority of stock in the Queens County Jockey Club from the Thomas D. Reilly estate for $225,000, turfmen in re-diately drew the conclusion that the Brooklyn Jockey Club had given up all hope of remaining permanently at Gravesend, and that in the course of time it would reestablish itself at Aqueduct. That Mr. Dwyer secured a bargain at the price paid was the consensus of opinion among influential turfmen at the now meets all requirements, but the lower turn is too sharp and too narrow, a fault than can be easily remedied. The length of the homestretch, nearly half a mile, makes it possible to build an immense steel grand stand, a field stand, which has never existed at this track, and a new clubhouse and paddock. By meving the finish mark further away from the lower turn there would be ample room for a new paddock and a wider turn. With Gravesend eliminated, Aqueduct would probably come in for the dates usually operated by the Brook-lyn Jockey Club and all of the rich stakes, including the historic Brooklyn Handicap, would be decided there. The Aqueduct track as it is is superior to the Gravesend track in many ways, and with Mr. Dwyer at the helm, turfmen say that it will become a power in the Eastern turf world.

The present Aqueduct meeting will last through the week, the shift to Jamaica beginning after Saturday's racing, as the Metropostan Jockey Club's spring session begins on Monday. Judging by the quality of the sport on Saturday, there will be plenty to

While Philip J. MEN'S TRI-CITY GOLF MATCH.

START AT PHILADELPHIA WOULD DO THIS SPRING.

No Need, Say the Players, to Wait Until the Fall to Begin-Handleappers Maye On New Jersey Clubs-Novel Conditions for an Eastern Parkway Cup.

That Boston, Philadelphia and New York are to join in a tri-city match for the men on the plan of the annual meeting between the women players of the three cities, as announced in THE SUN yesterday, comes as a surprise in the face of the turning down of the plan by the M. G. A. in March. But President Chauncey has made a personal fight for the match and the details now rest with him and the presidents of the two other leagues concerned, S. Y. Heebner and G. H. Windeler. A semi-annual match is planned the only hitch now is whether to begin in the spring or the full. The giving up of the annual match with Philadelphia is held to be a mistake by many, for as years passed it would increase in interest and in the even merit of the teams, to assume a place filled by the match of most pleasant history abroad between Oxford and Cambridge. But pos-sibly, if a good beginning is made, this hon-ored place may be attained by the new tri-FINE SPORT ON THE SPEEDWAY. city match. The Golf Association of Philadelphia, which has the vacant date of May 20 to fill day. It is doubtful if a Sunday morning crowd ever saw a better balanced programme on account of the giving up of the intercity match, should have the first call on the triengaged. While the pacers carried off the lion's share of the honors, the trotters made a splendid showing, and in the first really thrilling finish a trotter defeated a king pin city match, say the host who have discussed the project. To give the first match to New York in the fall, for the reason that it would warm up our players and make it easy to get a team to go away for the following matches, does not seem a very strong argu-W. C. Floyd-Jones drove the bay trotter King Chimes, 2:10%, for the first time this ment. Philadelphia is in the front seat and a demand for the match, as a sop for the loss of the May 20 fixture, could hardly be refused. But whenever set going, the tri-city match should prove a notable feature of the goiling should prove a notable feature of the goiling year.

In the annual meeting between the Scotch and English teams, the international matches, as they are called, in both the amateur and professional contests to be eligible a player must have been born in the country for which he plays. No such stringent regulation may be needed in regard to the tri-city contests, although it would seem odd to find Walter Egan, Hugo R. Johnstone and Malcolin McBurney playing against New York. Yet they have every right to do so, in fact, McBurney, although New York is his home has never played from any club save Stockbridge. Membership in a league club is enough to fix the matter of representation, as the M. G. A. ruled when it played E. M. Byers of Pittsburg, against the Oxford and Cambridge team. So those who object to non-residents who are club members being put on the teams should chase to the bunkers. pion. For some reason his owner elected yesterday to tackle Andrew Phillips's pacer, Don Riley, 2:07, instead of one of the many fast trotters present, but even at that King Chimes was a winner. It was a ding dong The pacers were out in force early, Alexander Frankenstein driving Fred W., 2:08%, and Dr. H. D. Gill with Lady Direct, 2:15%, had a hustling brush, Fred W. winning by the length of his neck. George Buckman sent the gray pacer Trixie, 2:20%, to make the next two brushes three cornered, and he finished second to Fred W. each time. Later

Having cleared the M. G. A. decks ready for Having cleared the M. G. A. decks ready for action on handicaps, Leighton Calkins has now taken up the work in the New Jersey State Golf Association. He and Frank M. Wilson form the handicap committee for the Jerseymen, and they sent out the first call on Saturday. It was a circular on the plan of the one sent to the M. G. A. clube, explaining the par and allowance systems in full and stating why the instructions must be followed absolutely. The reports must be in by May 1.

and stating why the instructions must be in by May 1.

Mr. Calkins's plan to equalize the relative prospect of improvement of the scratch and high score men by shading the exact difference between the par and average best score of the latter class, has aroused a great deal of attention. He has received letters from some Chicago clubs that wish to adopt his system for club handicaps, and also from clubs in New England and elsewhere. The Connecticut Golf Association plans to adopt it and the secretary has written to Mr. Calkins for the particulars. In time, remarked Mr. Calkins, in mentioning this application, "I think this may mean a general adoption of the system as a standard—and perhaps nothing needs standardization more than golf handicaps, unless it be divorce laws."

Play began with enthusiasm on Saturday at the Eastern Parkway Golf Club, for the cup given by Henry W. Paimer, and there will be competitions each Saturday and holiday on the preliminary schedule to July a. The donors of prizes include H. R. Ferguson, John E. Roberts, H. H. Missroom, D. D. Paterson, S. V. Begert and W. H. Zeigler. There have been fifteen challenges booked for the cup presented by H. P. Matthews, who has evolved an entirely new idea in golf prizes, and the play begins this week. The novelty in the conditions is that to get the trophy into play some one who has challenged must first defeat Mr. Matthews at handleap match play. The holder will then become the defender against all challengers, until a member wins it three times, when the cup becomes his property without further contest. To begin with, Mr. Matthews must be besten and as a consequence of the gift all of the fifteen are hot for the first chance at his scalp. The first hole is still in play, but the relief green is in shape to be Jumped to at a day's notice. 2:17%, and I. Steinberg with Bow Rene had one of the best finishes of the morning. Anton Swartz's black trotter Wyoming. 2:18½, made an auspicious beginning by defeating Harry Richmond's Lady Gallant. Dr. Martin was third, with Dicker. Then Wyoming was sent to tackle John F. Mr. Cockerill had so much confidence in the speed of his old-time favorite that he sent her against Claus Bohling's champion Kingmond, 2:09. This time he came to grief, although Honor Bright led almost to the finish, George Huber's crack snow trotter Rhythmic, Jr. 2:2½, and Thomas Leshey's matinée winner Princess Pique, 2:1½, had three lively tilts, Rhythmic vinning the first two and the Princess the third. Henry Phillips's trotter James Shevlin, 2:13½, won a good brush from Dr. Martin's Dicker. Class A at the Richmond County Country Club includes all members handicapped to 10 and class B all handicapped at 11 and over. Next Saturday there will be a match with the Englewood Golf Club at the Richmond County course and two other team matches have also been arranged at Dongan Hills with Princeton, May 13, and Fox Hills on June 10.

Lawn Tennis.

The announcement that the committee in charge of the Davis international lawn tennis team had arranged to send a picked squad of players South for preliminary practice was made yesterday. While this plan was was made yesterday. While this plan was talked over at the annual meeting this winter at which it was voted to send a challenge, nothing definite was decided on. It was stated at that time that a number of the leading players had been in correspondence with the committee and the following men had agreed to make the trip: Ereigh Colling Holcombe Ward, haymond D. Little, Beal C. Wright, William J. Clothier, William A, Larned and T. B. Alexander. While yesterday's announcement does not state just what players are to be taken on the trip it is understood that all of the foregoing will be included. If possible the Wrenns and Malcolm D. Whitman will go. Whitman, especially, would be a strong addition to the combination. The plans as outlined contemplate a stay of a week or ten days at Norfolk, Va., where a series of contests will be held to try out the players. The men will start about May 1.

A new club, which has for its chief object the perpetuation of Dalmattan dogs, has been formed in Philadelphia. The club will have its first regular meeting some time before May 29, when the annual Horse Show opens at St. Martin's Green, Wissahickon Heights. Every member of the club will drive to the grounds in a four-in-hand coach, and between the leaders and the wheelers will trot the Dalmattans. One of the leading apririts in the organization is Regirald C. Vanderblit. The club is limited to fifty members. Officers already have been elected. Alfred B. Maclay of New York is president, H. T. Peters of New York vice-president, and J. Sergsant Price, Jr., of Chestnut Hill is secretary-treasurer. D. Murray Bohlen of Chestnut Hill, Henry Jarrett of Chestnut Hill, Daniel C. Sands, Jr., of Kensico and Joseph B. Thomas of New York are members of the board of governors. A new club, which has for its chief ob-

Harlem Oarsmen Heedless of Rough Water

Though the day was raw and the water rough on the Harlem River yesterday, the crews which intend to do some racing in the coming regattas were out in force. There were eight fours, centipedes, doubles and singles, and not a man but did his best while he was rowing. The cold kept the loungers and critics indoors, but there was a sensa-tion, and for a short spell the stoves and warm nooks on "Scullers Row" were deserted. Dr. Cady of the Nassau Boat Club furnished the thriller, for, after rowing his new shell up and down the river for a couple of miles, he quietly took a header out of the shell and disappeared beneath the chilly waves. When he rose to the surface guy ropes, hawsers and other towing material were thrown to him, and after some vigorous pulling on the part of Jack Nagle and Johnny Smith the Nassau esculapius and his shell were brought ashore. Barring a coat of "goose flesh" the doctor

The clubs on the river have received invitations from the American Henley at Philadelphia the last Saturday in May, but it is not likely that many will go, for it is too close on the Decoration Day regatta on the Harlem. Fred Fuessel will be sent from the Harlem Rowing Club for the singles.

The Nassau members have broken all records this year for work and are by far the most active club on the river. Yesterday Coach Johnny Smith sent out forty-eight men for practice spins, and this imposing flotilla included two eights, a junior and a senior. Some changes may be made in the senior crew's final make-up, but the men were seated thus: Cool, stroke; J. Settig, 7; E. Settig, 6; Mehrhoff, 5; Pumphrey, 4; O'Connor, 3; Brasch, 2, and Stivers, bow. The juniors rowed: Hayward, stroke; J. Kohler, 7; G. Kohler, 6; J. S. O'Connor, 5; Nicoll, 4; Thom-son, 3; Chanut, 2; Nixon, bow. A six oared barge, which will eventually be utilized as substitute for the eights, took a long, steady pull, and they were Anderson, Smith, Sanders, Burrows, Bernholz, Barbarin and Carbonell, coxswain. The race for the Marsh shell takes place on Saturday afternoon next.

takes place on Saturday afternoon next.

A four barge of the Friendships, coached by Capt. Allison, took a long spin, and so did a four gig crew from the Dauntiess, in charge of Coach Eddie Anderson.

Frank Veseley of the Bohemians, the man who trounced litus so handily last year, was out in his shell for some hard work. The "Boho" crack intends to avail himself of some professional coaching later and should take litus's measure again. The "Bohos" launched a four gig which went a long way up the river.

The biggest junior double ever seen on the river will wear the white and blue of the Harlem Rowing Club this year. They are Jack Ryan and Dick O'Brien. Both are over 6 feet tall and tip the beam at 185 pounds and will be seen in the junior event on Decoration Day. Fred Hoffan will represent the Harlems in the association singles.

The committee in charge of the big river parade met yesterday and decided that it take place on May 14, and in case of rain it can be postponed to the following Sunday. Commodores John O. Rezan and James Pilkington announced that the parade would form at Lenox Avenue Bridge at 2:30 o'clock sharp and proceed to Sherman Creek, at the upper end of the Speedway, and return, and be in the following order, with commanders Single soulis, H. W. Janssen, Nassau and John E. Nasle, Harlem; double sculis, Frank Vesely, Bohemians, and C. S. Titus, Nonpareil; four cared gigs and shells, John J. Mulcahy, Atalanta, and S. Cramer, Lone Star; four oared barges, Edward Anderson, Dauntless, and H. Hertsbeg, Union; eight oared barges and shells, William Regan, Metropolitan and Jomes D. Breen, Wyanoke; Hoboken division, Albert Heyne, Atlantic Boat Club; Long Island division, Joseph Ryan, Seawanhaka Boat Club; Hudson River division, John Shultz, Hudson Boat Club.

In accordance with the requirements of the Park Department the work of improving the Wyanoke boathouse will begin to-day. It will be extended 10 feet on each side, will be many ways. In a little time work will begin on the Crescent house.

Rowing must be on the boom in northern latitudes, for Fred Plaisted left yesterday for Halifax, N. S., to take charge of a crew. He will be away for three months and on his return here will coach the Palisade Boat Club of Yonkers.

Ward, the boatbuilder, has begun work on an eight oared shell for the Vesper Henley eight. It is 63 feet long.
